

Cleaf at Interzum with C-HOUSE

Poro Noce is the new texture. Mosaico wins the Interzum Award 2019.

Lissone, 24 May 2019 – At the Interzum fair in Cologne Cleaf showcase C-HOUSE, the research on its innovative surfaces and their applications launched during the Milan Design Week 2019.

The stand designed by Bestetti Associati highlights 12 textures on 12 out of scale backlit walls to emphasize the multiple applications, and 4 bifacial displays with possible combinations.

A collection of faced panels, laminates and ABS edges to coat furniture and interiors: vertical and horizontal planes or curved support.

Protagonist of the installation is the new collection of solid colour decorative papers designed by Studio MILO and composed of 90 newly created colours in three families - Neutral, Trendy, Evergreen - that reflect three different moods.

The novelty is Poro Noce, a texture that reproduces the wood of walnut, a tree considered a symbol of fertility, whose ancient presence in Campania is witnessed by the discovery in the excavations of Pompei of carbonized trees. The pores are spread in a diffuse way and are easily recognizable to the naked eye. It's available as faced panel and ABS edge.

On show also Mosaico, awarded with the l'Interzum award: intelligent material & design 2019. The texture is a composition of square tiles whose irregular appearance is given by different levels of depth and width.
